

REMARKS

Claims 1-3 are pending and are amended herein. Accordingly, claims 1-3 will remain pending after entry of this amendment.

Support for the amendments here is found throughout the application as originally filed. No new matter is added.

35 U.S.C. § 103(a)

The Office Action rejects claims 1-3 under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) over U.S. Patent No. 7,072,792 to Freifeld (hereinafter "Freifeld") in view of U.S. Patent No. 5,088,955 to Ishimoto (hereinafter "Ishimoto"). Applicants respectfully traverse this rejection.

Currently amended claims 1 and 3 recite an extension unit for having a unit main body and a signal processing device detachably connected to the unit main body. The signal processing device includes a processor that executes "determined output processing" based on output data included in an instruction signal input from the unit main body.

As admitted at page 4 of the Office Action, neither Freifeld nor Ishimoto, alone or in combination, teach or suggest a signal processing device detachably connected to the unit main body.

In response to the Office Action's assertion that "such a modification would have been considered a mere design consideration," Applicants note that the detachability of the signal processing device allows for replacement of the signal processing device and selection of a particular signal processing device best suited for a particular situation. Moreover, a variety of outputs can be produced within the need to redesign the extension unit.

Accordingly, Applicants respectfully request the withdrawal of the rejection of claims 1-3 under 35 U.S.C. §103(a) over Freifeld in view of Ishimoto.
